

Art of your dreams

The strikingly beautiful and exotic islands of the Caribbean can hardly be compared to any other place in the world – palms swaying in the ocean breeze, rare birds fluttering among exotic flowers in bloom, freshly-caught seafood and luscious tropical fruit, friendly and charming people, and the azure waters and warming sun in the background paint a complete picture. Unique mountain landscapes, coastlines of powdery soft white sand beaches, and hidden bays and lagoons draw one into the secluded and pristine quietness. Should you tire of the noisy rush and hustle of the “privileges” of modern life, you owe yourself a visit to this veritable Garden of Eden.

The special characteristics of the Caribbean make it a perfect place to:

- Develop Antigua as a leading center of international art
- Create an art gallery and build a contemporary art center
- Establish a cooperative relationship with the leading museums, galleries, and art centers
- Stage international art projects that will attract the art jet set and others to Antigua
- Establish an Antigua Art Fair in which the principal galleries of America, Asia, Africa, and Europe will participate, and during which will be offered symposiums, roundtable discussions, art history lectures, films about artists, and other activities of interest.
- Arrange private exhibitions of artists from around the world
- Organize a supervised studio-residence for young artists to realize their creative ideas over a one- to three-month period

Education and workshops

Recognizing that art is a lifelong journey, Art Capital Partners (ACP) strives to provide educational opportunities in the visual, tangible arts – drawing, painting, sculpture, and design – as well as in the contemporary elements such as photography, video, film, design, and computer art. We also offer workshops to help artists refine their skills in the studio with expert guidance and critique. In addition, the art center will offer:

- Semester and year-long courses for students abroad from Asia, Europe, and the Americas
- Week and weekend art classes for newcomers, art supporters, and collectors to enhance educational and cultural experiences for guests and second home residents
- Lectures, presentations, classes and symposiums conducted year round by guest artists from around the world
- Alliances with the top international schools to host joint programs at the Antigua art center and galleries

ACP will have affiliate galleries strategically located on other islands and resorts in the Caribbean to promote and market the primary center in Antigua.

Benefits

Implementation of this program will attract investments in real estate as well as create a constant flow of visitors and buyers to the island. As the result, Antigua will become a leading international art platform and recognized as a nexus of knowledge and cultural development.

Art Capital Partners supports the development and production of contemporary art. By becoming the epicenter of contemporary cultural life in different countries, ACP will be able to combine the creative generation – diverse, educated, and intelligent – with the world of art. One of ACP's strategic objectives is to integrate contemporary art into the global cultural space by participating in world events, auctions, biennales, fairs, and exhibition projects.
